

Safety.com Announces Inaugural Safety Awards of 2021

Fort Mill, SC - March 11, 2021 - Safety.com, a website dedicated to empowering consumers to protect what matters most, announced the winners of the inaugural Safety Awards today.

These awards aim to provide well-researched and transparent content that empowers consumers to gain a peace of mind about keeping their home and family safe. To determine the winners, the editorial staff analyzed every major brand in a variety of categories to determine the best home security devices and apps, smart home devices, digital safety services and products and family safety products of 2021.

“For our top picks for 2021, we evaluated each business based on their ratings, unique features and affordability,” said Adam Benjamin, editor at Safety.com “From home security, personal safety, digital safety, and even family safety, we wanted to highlight the businesses that are giving consumers the confidence to keep their safety a top priority.”
